

IRELAND SILENT, BUT GOES TO ROME QUAY'S CAUSE A DESPERATE ONE.

He Will Not Tell of His Relations with the Vatican.

HE SPEAKS OF FRANCE MAY RESULT IN A DEADLOCK

The Archbishop Denies the Cadence of That Nation and the Latin Races.

Archbishop Ireland yesterday in the corridor of the Waldorf-Astoria yesterday waiting for an answer to his call at the telephone. His air, under the broad brim of his black soft hat, was silvery. His arms were crossed. He was watching with paternal interest the telephone girl replying at once to innumerable questions.

"Emulate her," the reporter said to the Archbishop. "Reply to my questions." He extended affably his slender white hands, smiled and said, "I will not answer a single one of them."

It is said that he is going to Rome, that visit was to be in the Spring, and that from the Vatican he has hastened it. He has dismissed the Pope by not riding him against a reply of McKinley which had the slightest tone of a rebuke in the war.

Archbishop Ireland would not speak of things at all. He said, "Do you speak to me? I speak to you. I haven't opportunities to speak to you that I desire, as you have in Britain?" Then he said of France, and said: "All France is waiting."

He is in decadence, also men are in it," the reporter explained. "The French and the Latin, you know, are dying."

The Archbishop's gray eyes were brilliant. He said:

No, I know nothing of the sort. The time is not dying. It is not true. You do not believe that France is a great nation. It has done extraordinary things. What it has done it can do again. A revolution in the world, what of it? France has had many revolutions. They are political, that is all. France is not a decadent nation. It is a nation of profound religious. Yes, profoundly religious. Oh, there are deceptive appearances, but when the time for a test comes, see how France comes up to it."

"Are you going to France?" he was asked. He smiled and waved his hands with an expression that meant, "There is a tacit understanding between us that you are not to ask if I am going abroad."

He said that he loved France and the things that were French in its old Louisiana colony. He spoke of the Archbishop of Vermont, the octogenarian who was a missionary among the Indians in the West in the days when the West was a torture to missionaries.

The answer to Archbishop Ireland's call the telephone girl directed him to the telephone. He rose quickly, and in steps agile as a young man's, he went to the telephone. He spoke there for a few minutes, but having taken the precaution to the door behind him, confident that he did not betray it, he came back, and he would not tell the public.

He resumed his conversation in French, French that was pure as crystal. He said that he was reported, but nothing conveyed the charm of his voice and his manner.

And, he said: "I will not reply to any of your questions about my relations with the Vatican. My silence is my most becoming attitude."

YANKEE MILLIONS INVESTED IN EQUADOR.

Americans Building Railroads and Factories and Organizing a Big Bank.

Washington, Jan. 11.—Minister Sampson, in Quito, Ecuador, furnishes some very interesting statements to the State Department relating to American enterprises in that country. Among other things he says:

"Ecuador is becoming one of the most important nations on the west coast of South America. In its relation to the United States, it is an American country. It has received a contract to build a railroad from Guayaquil to Quito, at an estimated cost of $10,000,000. In gold, and a number of enterprises are now at work in the survey. A representative of another American company negotiating for a contract to build a railroad that will cost many millions of dollars."

Another American company has secured the right to build a tramway from Labato to Balsapuerto, which will require a sum of money. A company has been formed by Americans to build in Guayaquil a large cotton gin, and in its place the late Congress passed a law forbidding the free importation of cotton. A charter has been secured by an American company to start a bank with capital of $1,000,000.

RIMINAL LAWS CODIFIED FOR ALASKA.

gh License System, with a Species of Local Option of Liquor Trade.

Washington, Jan. 11.—The House committee and passed the bill to-day for the codification of the criminal laws of Alaska. An amendment was adopted providing for a license system with a species of local option. Liquor dealers are to pay a license of $1,000 a year, and the consent of a majority of the white citizens residing within the limits of a liquor district is required. All attempts to recommit the bill for the purpose of securing the adoption of a provision excluding convicted felons from service on juries was defeated.

KILLED BY TRICHINAE.

One Dead, One Dying, Eight Others Ill Near Fairbury, Neb.

Fairbury, Neb., Jan. 11.—Rena, daughter of August Kellerman, a farmer, has died near here of eating pork infested with trichinae, her mother is dying and the father and five children are ill. Two boys named Polthert are dangerously ill of the same trouble.

How when butchered appeared unhealthy, but the Kellermans were poor and felt obliged to eat the meat.

DON'T FAIL TO GET IT!

A Beautiful French Manteau Given Away FREE.

Insert a paid "Want" advertisement in next Sunday's Journal and get, free of charge, a beautiful French manteau, in smartest chased gold frame, artistically mounted on sage green fabric art panel. These manteaus are now on exhibition at the Journal Branch offices.

1267 Broadway, P. 92

250 West 125th st., and

311 Washington st., Brooklyn.

WANT

To buy, sell or exchange anything

WANT

To rent rooms, flats or apartments

WANT

To rent rooms, flats or apartments

WANT

To rent rooms, flats or apartments

WANT

To rent rooms, flats or apartments

WANT

To rent rooms, flats or apartments

ELOPERS OVERTAKEN BY DEATH IN THE DONELLE TRAIN WRECK.

Mary Sminey, Whose Elopement Ended in the Train Wreck.

She was eighteen, as was George Joseph, the lad she loved. Parental opposition preventing their marriage at home, in Shamokin, they took a train for this city. It was one of those wrecked in collision at Donnell on Monday, and they were killed.

Many stories were buried in the wreck of the two trains of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, which came together and resulted in the loss of sixteen lives at West Donnell on Monday, but one of them, though the actors in it were killed, has come to life. It is a love story which ended in death.

Among the inhabitants of Shamokin, Pa., were George Joseph and Mary Sminey, eighteen years of age. Their parents are respected citizens. A passing acquaintance ripened into a deep affection.

Both were unusually young, and when the young man asked for the hand of the young woman her father refused it. The youth of both was urged against the marriage. But they determined to override parental objection.

A meeting was arranged, and last Monday the youth and maid met at Shamokin and took a trolley car for Mount Carmel. There they bought tickets for New York and took the train, which happened to be that carrying the business men's excursion from Hazelton, Pa., gathering passengers all along the route.

A young person had left Mount Carmel unattended. They took a seat side by side, in the forward coach. They sat and discussed, with the exuberance of their youth, the marriage which they had arranged to take place in this city.

As they talked and laughed the roar of an approaching train was heard. There was a crash, a two bodies were hurled back to the groans of the dying, and the elopement had ended.

The circumstances of the catastrophe took the lovers away from each other after death. The newspapers told that an unknown young man lay in the Muhlenberg Hospital at Plainfield; that an unknown young woman lay under a white shroud in an undertaker's place at Bound Brook. Both were young, what remained of their anguished features indicating that neither was more than eighteen years of age.

All day the two white bodies lay, miles apart. Then a man from Shamokin who had heard of the elopement looked upon the dead face of the young woman and thought he knew her.

"A young man left with her," he said. "Where is he?"

He was told that the young man might be found at Plainfield. There he went and found the corpse of Joseph.

Then he came back to Bound Brook and said to the undertaker: "Yes, I was right. This is the body of young Mary Sminey."

Yesterday the fourth body of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph was to be laid side by side in the cemetery.

LEHIGH OFFICIALS WILL BE CALLED TO EXPLAIN.

Prosecutor Voorhees held a consultation with County Physician Long at New Brunswick yesterday and announced that the authorities of Middlesex County would conduct an investigation and endeavor to fix the blame for the train wreck at West Donnell, in which sixteen persons were killed. The prosecutor will direct the officials of the road to appear before him for examination. If it be shown that the wreck was due to gross carelessness the facts will be laid before the Grand Jury. Then the Grand Jury will meet in April.

Edward W. Rick, of Bound Brook, the engineer on the Bound Brook local, which was in the collision, is not expected to live. The four-month-old boy of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Borroen, whose skill is crushed, is also hovering between life and death. All the other patients, including James Pendergast, of Easton, the engineer on the Hazelton express, who was pinned in under the engine for two hours, have shown marked improvement and are expected to recover. It is understood that a message was found in Pendergast's work bag, in which he instructed him to run west-bound track, and there switch back to the east-bound, in order to pass the freight wreck shortly after Bound Brook. The message is locked up in the safe at the hospital and no one is allowed to see it.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY

Take Lescage's Bronchial Tablets. All drug stores refund the money if it fails to cure. The genuine has L. B. Q. on each tablet.

HAWLEY WINS IN A FIERCE FIGHT.

Senator Renominated at Woman Is Found by Police—Hartford After Nine Ballots Are Taken.

It Is Found That More Votes Were Cast Than There Were Voters in Caucus.

Two Jersey Tramps Lie Down to Die and Are Rescued by Passerby.

Two ARE THROWN OUT. SCHOOLS CLOSE DOORS.

Two Jersey Tramps Lie Down to Die and Are Rescued by Passerby.

Two Jersey Tramps Lie Down to Die and Are Rescued by Passerby.

Two Jersey Tramps Lie Down to Die and Are Rescued by Passerby.

Two Jersey Tramps Lie Down to Die and Are Rescued by Passerby.

Two Jersey Tramps Lie Down to Die and Are Rescued by Passerby.

Two Jersey Tramps Lie Down to Die and Are Rescued by Passerby.

Two Jersey Tramps Lie Down to Die and Are Rescued by Passerby.

Two Jersey Tramps Lie Down to Die and Are Rescued by Passerby.

Two Jersey Tramps Lie Down to Die and Are Rescued by Passerby.

Two Jersey Tramps Lie Down to Die and Are Rescued by Passerby.

Two Jersey Tramps Lie Down to Die and Are Rescued by Passerby.

Two Jersey Tramps Lie Down to Die and Are Rescued by Passerby.

Two Jersey Tramps Lie Down to Die and Are Rescued by Passerby.

Two Jersey Tramps Lie Down to Die and Are Rescued by Passerby.

Two Jersey Tramps Lie Down to Die and Are Rescued by Passerby.

Two Jersey Tramps Lie Down to Die and Are Rescued by Passerby.

Two Jersey Tramps Lie Down to Die and Are Rescued by Passerby.

Two Jersey Tramps Lie Down to Die and Are Rescued by Passerby.

Two Jersey Tramps Lie Down to Die and Are Rescued by Passerby.

Two Jersey Tramps Lie Down to Die and Are Rescued by Passerby.

Two Jersey Tramps Lie Down to Die and Are Rescued by Passerby.

Two Jersey Tramps Lie Down to Die and Are Rescued by Passerby.

Two Jersey Tramps Lie Down to Die and Are Rescued by Passerby.

Two Jersey Tramps Lie Down to Die and Are Rescued by Passerby.

Two Jersey Tramps Lie Down to Die and Are Rescued by Passerby.

Two Jersey Tramps Lie Down to Die and Are Rescued by Passerby.

$30,000 UP FOR A SENATORSHIP. LOVE DOESN'T STOP YOUNG VANDERBILT

Charges of Bribery Made in the Contest in the State of Montana.

MILLIONAIRES' CONTEST. HE WILL QUIT IN JUNE

Marcus Daly Men Say They Were Approached by the Supporters of Clark.

Helena, Mont., Jan. 11.—Thirty thousand dollars is said to have been put up to buy the United States Senatorship for which Marcus Daly, W. A. Clark, W. G. Conrad, ex-Governor Toole and others are struggling.

Charges of bribery in the contest have been so open that a committee to investigate was appointed by the House. Before this committee Senator Whitesides, of Flathead County, a Daly man, said by Clark's supporters to have obtained a valuable contract from Daly, testified that he had been approached by Clark men with $30,000 with which it was proposed to buy votes. Several others testified to attempts to buy their votes.

In support of all this $30,000 in $1,000 bills was exhibited in the House on the Speaker's desk. It was afterward turned over to the State Treasurer.

The Clark men deny the whole story and say the money was put up by Daly and Conrad, to whom Daly is throwing his strength, in order to defeat Clark.

Judging from the vote in joint assembly today the reaction from the first effort of the exposure of alleged bribery is setting in. On the ballot Clark gained three votes over his total of the day before, while his chief opponent, W. G. Conrad, made a gain of but one. The result of the balloting was:

Clark, 10; Toole, 19; Conrad, 38, and Marcus (Rep.), 13.

Last night it was the plan of the anti-Clark people to take at least ten ballots in joint assembly to-day, but either they changed their plan because they found they had not the strength to carry it through, or they believed it was useless to try to elect a Senator to-day.

There has been a decided change in public sentiment in Clark's favor. It has developed that two of the men who allege they were paid money to vote for Clark have been regularly in Mr. Daly's employ. One of them has had for several years a business relation with men nearest to Daly, and the fourth is a farmer, unacquainted with public life, who would be easy prey for "a sharp."

It is said so that two of the men whose votes it was alleged were bought, left all the arrangements to Senator Whitesides, who was to get the money from Clark, and deliver it to him. They voted for Clark.

The Daly people deny absolutely that a trap was laid to catch the opposition, and they deny that it was Daly money and not Clark cash that was turned over to the State Treasurer.

In response to the request of the joint assembly and the demand of Mr. Clark for an investigation of the boodle charges by a Grand Jury, Judge S. H. McIntyre to-day ordered one called. The jury is to meet Saturday.

The two commanding figures in the Montana Senatorial contest are well known in New York. W. A. Clark spends much of his time in this city and is the owner of a beautiful residence site at Seventy-second street and Fifth avenue, on which, it is said, he intends to build a palace.

Mr. Daly's name is known wherever lovers of the thoroughbred horse abound. He has captured with his horses some of the biggest turf events in the East.

Both men went West poor and both to-day are multi-millionaires. Marcus Daly is about sixty-six years of age. Clark is sixty. Both are vigorous men and hard workers.

Marcus Daly went to the mines from San Francisco a penniless boy. He became an expert and was employed by a firm in Salt Lake City. Eventually he saved up money enough to buy the Anaconda mine, at Butte, Mont. He formed a stock company and worked the mine, which has developed into probably the richest copper property in the world, netting its proprietor millions of dollars annually. He has invested $500,000 in racers, and his stock farm, near Anaconda, is a model. He owns a newspaper, the Anaconda Standard, a metropolitan daily published in a country town.

Mr. Clark was born in Pennsylvania and received his education in Iowa. He studied for the bar, but went West during the gold excitement, paying his way by teaching school. After a mining experience in Colorado he went to Montana, where he located a claim and cleaned up $1,500 in one year of hard work. He then went into business and acquired mining property that has made him a millionaire.

He also owns a newspaper, the Butte Miner, and it, like Mr. Daly's paper, is a metropolitan sheet. Through his newspaper he wages war on Mr. Daly and Mr. Daly wages newspaper war back.

Mr. Clark has aspired for the United States Senate for years. The coveted position seemed to be in his grasp in 1893, but it slipped away from him after a protracted contest with Senator Morris, which finally adjourned in deadlock over the Senatorial question.

Mr. Clark's hobby is art. He has an art gallery in which $200,000 are stored. Recently he started New York by purchasing Fortuny's great painting, "The Choice of a Model," for $200 at the sale of the artist's collection at Christie's. Mr. Daly, he is an admirer of horses, but his taste runs to trotters and pacers.

JONATHAN ROSS SUCCEEDS MORRILL.

Fifield Declines the Vermont Senatorship and the Chief Justice Accepts It.

St. Albans, Vt., Jan. 11.—B. F. Fifield, of Montpelier, to-day declined, for family reasons, the appointment as United States Senator, to succeed the late Senator Morrill.

The appointment was then offered to Jonathan Ross, of St. Johnsbury, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Vermont, who has accepted it and resigned from the bench.

Jonathan Ross was born in Waterford, Vt., April 30, 1825. His grandfather moved to Montpelier in 1795, and he grew up on a farm and cutting forests in one of the pioneer towns of northern Vermont.

Judge Ross graduated from Dartmouth College in 1845. He taught at a school, studied law in Chelsea and was admitted to the bar in 1856.

He was elected to the Vermont Supreme Court in 1870, when he was elected to the Supreme Court Bench. In 1890 he was elected Chief Justice.

Judge Ross's opinions were highly valued for their common sense as well as good law.

In 1895, '96 and '97 he represented St. Johnsbury in the Legislature, and for many years a member of the State Board of Education, and in 1893 a member of the last Board of Commissioners of Census and Statistics in the State. In 1870 he was elected to the State Senate from Caledonia County. Judge Ross has a wife, five daughters and two sons living.

No Foreign Meat for New York.

Justice Nash, in the Supreme Court yesterday handed down a decision in which he denies the application for a writ of mandamus made by Marcus Daly to compel Commissioner Francis J. Lantry to accept bids from him for the furnishing of food and munition for the department of charity, in the present year. Rooney, who is a foreign meat packer, had written to the department of charity for the call for bids. Commissioner Lantry inserted in the call, "All beef and mutton used by this department shall be killed and dressed in the State of New York."

Justice Nash, in the Supreme Court yesterday handed down a decision in which he denies the application for a writ of mandamus made by Marcus Daly to compel Commissioner Francis J. Lantry to accept bids from him for the furnishing of food and munition for the department of charity, in the present year. Rooney, who is a foreign meat packer, had written to the department of charity for the call for bids. Commissioner Lantry inserted in the call, "All beef and mutton used by this department shall be killed and dressed in the State of New York."

Justice Nash, in the Supreme Court yesterday handed down a decision in which he denies the application for a writ of mandamus made by Marcus Daly to compel Commissioner Francis J. Lantry to accept bids from him for the furnishing of food and munition for the department of charity, in the present year. Rooney, who is a foreign meat packer, had written to the department of charity for the call for bids. Commissioner Lantry inserted in the call, "All beef and mutton used by this department shall be killed and dressed in the State of New York."

Justice Nash, in the Supreme Court yesterday handed down a decision in which he denies the application for a writ of mandamus made by Marcus Daly to compel Commissioner Francis J. Lantry to accept bids from him for the furnishing of food and munition for the department of charity, in the present year. Rooney, who is a foreign meat packer, had written to the department of charity for the call for bids. Commissioner Lantry inserted in the call, "All beef and mutton used by this department shall be killed and dressed in the State of New York."

Justice Nash, in the Supreme Court yesterday handed down a decision in which he denies the application for a writ of mandamus made by Marcus Daly to compel Commissioner Francis J. Lantry to accept bids from him for the furnishing of food and munition for the department of charity, in the present year. Rooney, who is a foreign meat packer, had written to the department of charity for the call for bids. Commissioner Lantry inserted in the call, "All beef and mutton used by this department shall be killed and dressed in the State of New York."

Justice Nash, in the Supreme Court yesterday handed down a decision in which he denies the application for a writ of mandamus made by Marcus Daly to compel Commissioner Francis J. Lantry to accept bids from him for the furnishing of food and munition for the department of charity, in the present year. Rooney, who is a foreign meat packer, had written to the department of charity for the call for bids. Commissioner Lantry inserted in the call, "All beef and mutton used by this department shall be killed and dressed in the State of New York."

Justice Nash, in the Supreme Court yesterday handed down a decision in which he denies the application for a writ of mandamus made by Marcus Daly to compel Commissioner Francis J. Lantry to accept bids from him for the furnishing of food and munition for the department of charity, in the present year. Rooney, who is a foreign meat packer, had written to the department of charity for the call for bids. Commissioner Lantry inserted in the call, "All beef and mutton used by this department shall be killed and dressed in the State of New York."

Justice Nash, in the Supreme Court yesterday handed down a decision in which he denies the application for a writ of mandamus made by Marcus Daly to compel Commissioner Francis J. Lantry to accept bids from him for the furnishing of food and munition for the department of charity, in the present year. Rooney, who is a foreign meat packer, had written to the department of charity for the call for bids. Commissioner Lantry inserted in the call, "All beef and mutton used by this department shall be killed and dressed in the State of New York."

Justice Nash, in the Supreme Court yesterday handed down a decision in which he denies the application for a writ of mandamus made by Marcus Daly to compel Commissioner Francis J. Lantry to accept bids from him for the furnishing of food and munition for the department of charity, in the present year. Rooney, who is a foreign meat packer, had written to the department of charity for the call for bids. Commissioner Lantry inserted in the call, "All beef and mutton used by this department shall be killed and dressed in the State of New York."

Store must be emptied. Carpenters and builders to take possession.

Every Ulster

In the store goes on sale TO-DAY at $15, $18, $20, $25 and $30 grades—all included.

None reserved. Come early.

Bierman, Heideberg & Co.

Broadway, Cor. Chambers St. (Building)

Kennedy

12 CORTLANDT ST.

3 98

Button Patent Leathers, They're $5.00 shoes imported stock, finest of shoe-making. Nowhere can you find such values.

Winter Russets, $2.97 pair.

Marked down to close, Black Waxed Calf, $2.97, hand well, selected stock, value $4.00.

Dirt breeds Disease. Use Pearl Line

CEYLON AND INDIA TEA.

A sound, clean, wholesome beverage. Infuse intelligently five minutes.